Areas of Interest

Fulbright Mongolia is particularly interested in encouraging research on contemporary issues relevant to Mongolia, the United States, or U.S.-Mongolia relations in the following fields: agriculture, anthropology, archaeology, computer science, education, engineering, environmental sciences, geology, information sciences/systems, journalism, medical sciences, public administration, public health, social work, tourism, urban planning.

Special Features

Fulbright East Asia Pacific Regional Travel Program

During their grant period, Fulbright Scholars in the East Asia and Pacific (EAP) region have the opportunity to apply for funds to support short-term (3-14 days) travel to other countries in the EAP region for activities such as lectures, workshops, graduate or faculty seminars, master classes or recitals, curricular advising or panel presentations. Funding covers transportation only. It is not necessary to suggest regional activities nor identify a host as part of the initial Fulbright application, though scholars may pursue invitations for short-term activities in other EAP countries once notified that they have been selected for a Fulbright grant. Scholars may only apply for travel program funds once in country during their Fulbright grant period.

Degree Requirements

Ph.D. (or other terminal degree) not required

Additional Qualification Information

For teaching grants, applicants should have at least three years of teaching experience at a university, college, or community college at the time of application. Teaching assistantships do not count toward this three-year requirement. Non-academic applicants with a strong professional/industry background will be considered.

Research grant applicants should have a minimum of three years of research experience or should have at least one published academic research project.

Additional Language Requirement

All teaching will be in English; local language proficiency is desirable but not required.

For research, language proficiency sufficient to complete the proposed project is required. Teaching/Research and Research applicants should submit 'Language Proficiency Report: Self-Evaluation' and 'Language Proficiency Report: External Evaluation'. Native speakers only need to complete 'Language Proficiency Report: Self-Evaluation'. For applicants without Mongolian language proficiency, feasibility of conducting the project must be demonstrated in the project statement.

Invitation Requirement

A letter of invitation is required.

Additional Comments

Applicants should identify host institutions in order of preference in the project statement and on the application form. If necessary, the U.S. Embassy in Ulaanbaatar can assist with arranging an affiliation. Please contact at exchange@usembassy.mn ^[1].
