Award Activity
The Fulbright Distinguished Scholar in Advanced Science and Technology aims to attract outstanding U.S. researchers to work in Australia in a priority area of research that will lead to ongoing collaborative partnerships between Australia and the U.S. and develop skills and capabilities in emerging fields of science and technology. The Distinguished Scholar will be appointed to the Australian Defense Science and Technology Group (DST), or another Australian research institution that is linked to DST, for the relevant research program. The Distinguished Scholar will work on a specific research project during their term (5-6 months) and be expected to engage with faculty and students through occasional guest lectures and seminars. The project must meet the objectives of the Fulbright program to foster mutual understanding through educational and cultural exchange and support the binational relationship.

Award Length
5 to 6 months

Award Dates
Grants must begin in January/February 2023 in line with the Australian academic year and in order to attend the Orientation Program and Gala Presentation Dinner.

Locations
DST[1], or a partner research institution for the relevant research program. These institutions include organizations such as CSIRO and Australian Nuclear Science & Technology Organisation (ANSTO), as well as Australia’s major universities (The Australian National University, The University of Adelaide, The University of Queensland, The University of Melbourne, The University of Sydney, University of NSW, University of Tasmania and The University of Western Australia, among others).

Special Features

Fulbright East Asia Pacific Regional Travel Program

Fulbright Scholars in the East Asia and Pacific (EAP) region have the opportunity to apply for funds to support short-term (3-14 days) travel to other countries in the EAP region for activities such as lectures, workshops, graduate or faculty seminars, master classes or recitals, curricular advising or panel presentations. EAP Regional Travel Program funding covers transportation only. Regional Travel Program activities/host sites should not be included in the initial Fulbright application. Scholars may pursue invitations for short-term activities in other EAP countries once notified that they have been selected for a Fulbright grant, and may only apply for travel program funds once they have actively started their Fulbright grant in their host country. Scholars on Flex grants are not eligible for the regional travel grant.
