Discipline Type

Applications are sought in all disciplines

Degree Requirements

Ph.D. (or other terminal degree) required

Additional Qualification Information

Intended for scholars at the assistant professor level who have received their Ph.D. within the last five years or have comparable professional qualifications. Ph.D. candidates must receive the terminal degree no later than February 1, 2022 and should include a letter from their thesis adviser confirming their status.

Please note that candidates with dual U.S./Spanish citizenship, or candidates who are residing in Spain at the time of application or anytime thereafter, are not eligible for the Fulbright program in Spain.

Additional Language Requirement

Spanish language proficiency (or proficiency in one of the other three co-official languages: Catalan, Euskera, or Galician) is not required unless necessary to complete the research or teaching project. Applicants must discuss this point with their host institution beforehand. Applicants for whose project language proficiency is necessary must address this in the project statement.

Researchers and faculty are usually fluent in English while there are wide differences in the students' English proficiency. For day-to-day life, some knowledge of Spanish and/or the other co-official languages is useful, especially in smaller cities and towns.

Invitation Requirement

A letter of invitation is required.

Six to 10 months

Invitation Requirement Additional Information

Applicants must arrange affiliation in Spain and submit letters of invitation indicating the name and position of the research adviser with whom the scholar will collaborate, and the availability of research resources. The letter is required to be signed by the research adviser and have the approval of the head of the corresponding department.

The U.S.-Spain Fulbright Commission provides wide support to selected candidates regarding administrative issues such as the visa process, and ample pre-departure and arrival information. However, it cannot assist in establishing contacts at prospective host institutions.
