Award Activity

The scholar will take part in the teaching and research activities of the Digital Culture program and the Digital Culture and Electronic Literature research groups in the Department of Linguistic, Literary and Aesthetic Studies at the University of Bergen. The scholar will teach three to four courses in digital culture and digital media aesthetics over the course of the year and will evaluate student work. Courses will run 13 teaching weeks, with two two-hour meetings per week for undergraduate courses or one three-hour meeting per week for graduate courses. Courses will be lecture and seminar. The scholar will also develop a research or artistic research project of their choosing related to Digital Culture.

Depending on needs and expertise, courses the scholar might teach include:

DIKULT103: Digital Genres: Digital Art, Electronic Literature and Computer Games

DIKULT105: Web Design

DIKULT203: Electronic Literature

DIKULT251: Critical Perspectives on Information Technologies and Society

DIKULT303: Digital Media Aesthetics

DIKULT304: Graduate Seminar: Topics in Digital Culture

Students purchase books and compendia. Lecture classrooms are equipped with appropriate technology (computer and projector) and a computer lab is available when appropriate to course content.

The scholar may teach both undergraduate and MA-level courses and may provide some thesis advising to graduate students. The scholar will also participate in and contribute to weekly meetings of the Digital Culture research group and give one public lecture on a central topic of his/her research.

Special Features

UiB will facilitate lecture visits to other European institutions via the Fulbright inter-country lecturer program.

All U.S. awardees to Norway have two opportunities to gather as a group. The first is an orientation program held in Oslo in August. The second is a seminar in February during which awardees present on their projects followed by a weekend at a ski resort near Lillehammer. Domestic travel and lodging expenses for these gatherings are covered by the Fulbright Foundation. In addition, these expenses are covered for dependent family members of awardees for the seminar/ski weekend, which is a highlight of the Fulbright year.

Degree Requirements

Ph.D. (or other terminal degree) required

Additional Qualification Information

University-level teaching experience required.

Please note that dual U.S.-Norway citizens are not eligible for the Fulbright program with Norway. Applications will not be considered if the applicant is currently residing in Norway or will be residing in Norway during the year preceding the grant.

All letters of recommendation should be submitted by the application deadline.

Additional Language Requirement

All teaching will be in English.

For research award activity, language fluency sufficient to complete the research project is required. Feasibility of conducting research must be demonstrated in both the project statement and, for research that is not in English, the language self-evaluation form of the Fulbright application.

Invitation Requirement

A letter of invitation is preferred.
