Application Deadline

Monday, November 2, 2020

Grant Activity

Participate in a group seminar that will focus on the role of community colleges in higher education and the local community. Through engagement with Russian educators at a variety of regional institutions, applicants will discuss issues concerning the U.S. system of higher education, focusing on the model and role of community colleges in this system and in local communities; share best practices in education administration, alternative pathways to higher education, and workforce training. The overall objective is to prepare U.S. and Russian institutions to internationalize their campuses, broaden the scope of their programs, and provide mobility opportunities.

The program includes a post-arrival country briefing and site visits to Russian institutions of higher education. Site visits will provide American participants with the opportunity to meet with senior administrators, government officials and community representatives. Americans will explain how the U.S. community college system develops educational programs that combine workforce training and civic education and prepares students for additional higher education. Americans will familiarize themselves with Russian institutions. The program will conclude with a debriefing session at the U.S. Embassy.

Grant Length

Degree Requirements

Ph.D. (or other terminal degree) not required

Additional Qualification Information

Applicants must have a minimum of five years experience in community college administration. Open to community college administrators, including presidents, vice presidents, provosts, deans, and other individuals with institutional authority for program development and international outreach. Applicants should be able to discuss issues concerning the U.S. system of higher education, the role of community colleges in this system and in local communities. Individuals without prior professional connections to Russia and whose home institutions do not have an established partnership or affiliation with Russian institutions of higher learning are encouraged to apply.

Preference will be given to applicants who demonstrate interest in encouraging faculty members to apply for Fulbright Scholar grants to the Russian Federation.

Invitation Requirement

A letter of invitation should not be sought

Additional Comments

Applicants are encouraged to carefully check their calendars in advance to make certain that there are no conflicting events in the U.S. which would prevent them from grant participation so that, if selected, they can commit to participate in the CCAS seminar for the entire duration, April 2-16 inclusive.
